Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 03 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fairly cloudy with sunny spells, feeling warm in any sunshine.

Today:
Another dry day, with a fair amount of sunshine despite variable cloud. Initially brightest across western areas, but cloud breaking up more widely later. Feeling warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
A bright evening, but feeling cool again. Good clear periods overnight, making for a chilly night under starry skies. Some low cloud returning in the early hours. Remaining dry throughout. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Saturday:
While fairly cloudy for many, parts of Cornwall and west Devon will see a largely sunny day. Remaining dry, with sunny spells later, but staying quite cloudy across eastern areas. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Largely dry with sunny spells on Sunday, though a few showers possible, mainly in the west. Dry with some sunny spells on Monday. Plenty of sunshine on Tuesday. Turning warmer.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.